After which, His Majesty was pleased to make the following most gracious Speech.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

IT is with great Satisfaction I observe, that the Temper and Moderation which I recommended to you at the Opening of this Session, have been so well preserved through the general Course of your Proceedings; and that from a due Regard to Me and my Honour, you have avoided all unnecessary Occasions of Heats and Animosities; and made the Interest of your Country the Principal Object of your Care and Consideration.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I return you my Thanks for the Supplies, which you have so chearfully and effectually raised, for the Service of the current Year: The Provision you have made to answer all Emergencies, which may become necessary; in Vindication of the Honour and Interest of my Crown and People, is a great Proof of your Zeal and Concern for the Welfare and Prosperity of the Nation, and shall be employed by Me, in such a Manner, as may best conduce to those Ends and Purposes, for which you have so readily consented to this extraordinary Expence.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Agreeably to what hath appeared to be the concurrent Opinion of both Houses of Parliament, I have given Orders to repeat, in the strongest and most pressing Manner, my Instances at the Court of Spain, for obtaining Satisfaction for the many Injuries and Losses sustained by my trading Subjects in America, as well as an effectual Security of their Rights for the Future; and I hope from the Justice and Equity of the Catholick King, to procure such Satisfaction and Security, as may preserve the Peace, and establish a free and uninterrupted Exercise of Navigation and Commerce, mutually between the Subjects of both Crowns, pursuant to Our Treaties, and the Law of Nations.

Then the Lord Chancellor by his Majesty's Command, said,

My Lords and Gentlemen,

IT is His Majesty's Royal Will and Pleasure, that this Parliament be prorogued to Thursday the Twenty Seventh Day of July next, to be then here held; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Thursday the Twenty Seventh Day of July next.
